Mr. Taft on the Education of Women.

The President on June 2nd attended the Commencement exercises at Bryn Mawr College where his daughter, Helen, has been attending school.

He spoke to the graduating class on the subject of higher education for women and said in part:

"I dissent from the view that an academic education unfits man or woman for business. It may be that the tastes that lead one to an academic education are not those which insure business success; but that the mental discipline, the power of reasoning, the cultivation and comparison of ideas, are not of assistance in business transactions in which the highest qualities of the mind are acutely in action, can hardly be true. But it is said that women are not all going into the professions, and so that the education necessary as a basis for a professional career is not needed by those women who have a competency, or who look forward to marriage and motherhood as the chief end of woman. It is even suggested that the higher education of women rather unfits them to discharge the duties of a wife and mother, that in some way or other it robs them of a charm and gives them an intellectual independence that is inconsistent with their being the best wives and mothers. I utterly dissent from this view. The companionship of married life is the chief charm and reason for its being, so far as it relates to the two persons concerned. The enjoyment of the home, with children, and the training of them, are, of course, among the most important duties and pleasures of married life; and it certainly does not detract from the power of a woman to make a good companion, or to teach and train her children up to high ideals, that she should have the advantage of the higher education. It is not essential that a woman who knows much must conform to the unattractive manner and ways of the conventional blue-stocking; that she should make the extent of her knowledge a source of discomfort to those with whom she associates, or that she should lose her interest in the sentiment and emotions of life, or fail to have an appreciation of beauty and romance."

There has existed in the east end of this county a feud for some time that should not be tolerated in a civilized community. The details of the affair appears in the Cartersville letter. We do not undertake to say who was the aggressor or who is to blame for the trouble, but we assume that both sides are in fault as is usually the case in such controversies. The commonwealth should have all of the parties bound over to keep the peace as authorized by the statutes. This is one of the best laws we have and is the one least used. It was enacted to prevent just such outrages as the affair at Cartersville. The people generally are interested in peace and good order, and outlaws should not be permitted to run at large with their guns and pistols to engage in such duels. If they were the only ones concerned it would make little difference if they should destroy each other, but the good citizenship of the county and society rebel against such conduct.

BY R. W. S.

Did you reckless readers ever realize that Wilson Brothers, the expert horsemen of Cave City own and operate a terrible big bunch of farming land in most every county in this commonwealth?

I don't remember of but one that they have overlooked and that is grand old Garrard county, and it is wisely and wondrously whispered in social and select secret circles that "Tempting" Tommy, the Junior member, is contemplating the addition of a well developed and highly cultivated farm in the latter county.

You don't know Tom—there's no happy medium in his accumulative nature. Its either a feast or a famine, a mount or a mole-hill, he is a terrible extremist, a great admirer of the beautiful in nature and has the co-operation in this deal of bewildering Billy Burton, he of the Thian hair and Teutonic ancestry, the Y. M. C. A. of Garrard (Young Maidens' Constant Attendant).

Editors in Middlesboro.

Middlesboro, Ky., June 21st.
A large crowd of Kentucky "Quill-drivers" are on hand attending the meeting of the Kentucky Press association which is being held here this week. The CENTRAL RECORD is being represented by Mr. J. L. Gill, Misses Margaret and Joan Mount and the Editor. We arrived here yesterday after a very pleasant ride thru the mountains.

The people of Middlesboro are prepared to show us a great time and so far we have enjoyed life to the fullest. On last night an informal reception and concert was given at the Middlesboro hotel at which time Mayor Hepburn and the citizens of Middlesboro extended a royal welcome to the newspaper men.

On Tuesday morning, the first business session of the association was held at the Midway Theatre. The program was opened by an address of welcome by Mayor Hepburn, a re-sponse, routine business and the annual poem by Edward A. Jones, poet laureate of Kentucky. This afternoon (Tuesday) will be devoted to a trip to the mines of the Mingo Hollow district. The Managers of the different mines will be at the disposal of the committee having the trip in charge. Tuesday evening an informal dance will be given at the Middlesboro hotel from 8:30 to 12.

On Wednesday morning at 8:30 another business meeting will be held at which time some interesting papers on newspaper work will be read and valuable suggestions will be made. In the afternoon another trip to the coal mines, after which the New South Brewery & Ice Co. will serve an elegant and tempting buffet luncheon to the Editors. In the evening at 7 o'clock a grand reception will be given at the Middlesboro hotel by the members of the Eighth District Press League of which this paper is a member. It will be followed by a German treat by Mr. W. V. Richardson, of Danville and Miss Margaret Mount, of Lancaster.

On Tuesday morning another business meeting will be held, after which automobiles and carriages will take the Editors for a trip over the new model Government road through historic Cumberland Gap to the top of Pinnacle mountain at which place a barbecue will be given 3,000 feet above the City of Middlesboro. This will be the most interesting trip of all. On Thursday evening a smoker will be held at the Middlesboro hotel followed by a grand ball which will last until the wee hours of morning.

The great Michael's Military Band is furnishing music for every occasion. On Friday a trip to Pineville is planned and a number of Editors will go there to be the guest of the Pineville Sun.

The meeting will close Friday and we do not believe that there will be a person who can say that they have not been benefited by this meeting and every one goes back home feeling that they are better prepared to do the work there for the next year.

There are several people here who once lived in our town and some how or other they always look better to us than any one else. They are all prospering and enjoying life in this garden spot of the mountains.

A Willing Merchant.

Editor Central Record:

I notice in your columns of last week an article written by the City Attorney, relative to side walks, etc., in Lancaster.

I admire the spirit of the writer and too, think that the citizens should readily respond to the building of cement sidewalks, and do so in the spirit suggested by our attorney.

With the same spirit and show of good faith in this matter, let the Council on their part improve the town square by macadamizing and building it up to an established grade, just as the county is now doing the Lexington road. I understand that the county will permit them to use the road machinery without cost.

Then when this is done, I am willing to speak for the property owners around and fronting the public square that they will all put down simultaneously, concrete sidewalks. This once done I believe the entire property holders of the city will at once begin the building of cement walks throughout the limits of the city.

I suggest that the entire improvement of square and the building of walks begin the same time, say Sept. 1st, as this is a dull business month and we can better afford to begin work then.

I am a business man on the public square and stand ready at any time to do my part toward what I think will reap untold benefits to me as well as to the community at large.

Lets have a hard pull, a strong pull and a pull all together and complete this good work in September.

A Property Owner.

Officers Chosen.

The first meeting of the new Danville Gun Club was held last Friday afternoon on the grounds of the Kentucky Institution for the Deaf. A most interesting shoot was held.

In the first shoot Dr. J. R. Cowan won first honors, landing 20 pigeons out of 25 shots and Mr. Robert Birtell came second, getting 18 out of 25.

In the second shoot Mr. Harry Robinson won first place, making the record of the day by taking 22 out of 25 shots. Mr. Bartells, who is a very fine shot again came second, this time getting 20 out of 25 shots.

Superintendent Augustus Rogers was chosen President, Mr. Robert Bartells vice-President, and Mr. Harry Robinson Secretary-Treasurer.

The Club meets every Friday afternoon. There are twenty members.—Danville Advocate.

Cracks At Creation.

Did you know?

That we should have a beautiful town.

That we should join the crusade against uprightness that is daily gaining more recruits than Teddy ever dreamed of leading.

That the first requisite is to realize that community attractiveness, home and town beauty are true economy, and that collective ugliness is sheer waste.

That we should ask ourselves the questions: which home brings the best price, the one that is well kept, even though simple, or the one that is unkempt. Which community attracts population of a permanent and desirable character, the town that is unsightly, or the one that is tree lined and well paved.

That seeing and believing that beauty is good business, you should talk that way to your friends, suggest that what is impossible for one, is easy for many and thus pave the way for organized effort.

That while considering organization, you should think of your home, your town as if you were a critical stranger.

That there are ash piles and dumps about and that the purifying trash fires have been forgotten.

That loose papers are allowed to litter the streets, and sign men have been permitted to tack up on fences, trees and houses their ugly announcements.

That poles and wires eclipse some of the trees.

That street lights may beautify or "uglify" a town. Do they hang from hideous poles or posts in your town? Are the streets in your town on a line? Is the public square of your town a true civic center of beauty as well as business, with tree decked streets along a line leading out from it? If it is I want to know about it, for I am hungering for a town so ornamented.

That a town entrance, particularly by the railroad, should be pleasing and not show the incoming stranger the worst of a community.

That seeing what other places look like helps a great deal in this effort for beauty and those that are awakening need to have the encouragement of the "wide awakes."

That there is no beautifying of the complexion or farm like a little work with shovel, hoe and scythe.

That if you don't think our country is pretty just now, climbing to the top of the court house cupola, will not only be an elevating pastime, but will convince you it is.

That every one should climb up and view the beauties of town and country with the aid of opera glasses and a rubber neck.

That if you will only "look out" and not in you will see many things that should be done and will see that God has given us a country too beautiful to desecrate.

Poor Satisfaction.

The man who is thoroughly satisfied with himself isn't with anything else.

IN PAIER NAPERV

PLEASEING DESIGNS ARE SHOWN IN PROFUSION.

For Many Occasions These Articles Are Preferable to the More Formal Linen—May Be Arranged in Attractive Manner.

For a child's party, the informal luncheon, the chafing dish supper, and other little feasts which do not require formal tables, there is nothing like the convenience of "paper napery." The table covers and napkins supplied may even express a considerable degree of smartness, for there are smart or vulgar paper fixings, just as there are smart or poor linen ones.

There is a round table cover big enough for a table that would seat four people, this and the six napkins that go with it showing a charming border of bright red hearts connected at intervals with a garish band that stimulates a blue ribbon. For the season soon to follow there are other sets showing borders of crisp jonquils, yellow tulips and very nice looking apple boughs in full bloom. These naturally appeal to young folks, so one is not surprised that such distinctive and pretty table capers often set off very nice boy and girl luncheons. From 35 to 50 cents is charged for the handling of these sets and the covers at least are stout enough to last several times with care.

For the younger children, the paper napery takes on high jinks in the animal or Mother Goose way, and with some of the plain white things which are intended for the housekeeper of taste who must economize on her napery, there are some thin napkins, almost silky in finish and very prettily fringed. These are very often used with a linen cloth for Sunday night teas, and though afternoon tea does not call for a serviette, such kinds are perfectly in keeping with taste if linen ones are wanting.

A pretty way to put the napkins on the afternoon tea table is to fold each one in a neat square, and then tie the bundle prettily with a narrow ribbon. The guest helps herself from the bundle, or leaves it alone as she wishes.

The plain white paper napkin, or one lightly decorated, is never vulgar, and if it comes from China or Japan it may even be a thing of beauty.

Such tasteful and inexpensive serviettes indeed would help out a home limited in house linen tremendously, for they could be used when a linen one could not. Then there is the eternal comfort of their never needing to be washed, or counted, or mended!

Twenty-five cents will buy a package of a hundred of the simpler sort of napkins.

FURNITURE

At F. G. Hurt's will begin a special sale of all Furniture Carpets and Rugs. It is Hurt's policy to stock up at the beginning of each season with an entirely new collection of household furnishings. This policy results in an opportunity being afforded to the Furniture buyers to get just what they want at an unusually low price. It means a big saving to young folks just going to housekeeping. Our June sale this year offers a particular opportunity for the reason that the backward season has so interfered with business that our large stock is practically left intact, consequently a great variety in choice is offered.
